

CLINICAL LEGAL EDUICATION ASSOCIATION
NEWSLETTER

VOL. X NO. 2

NOVEMBER, 2001

ANNUAL JOBS ISSUE

BALTIMORE

Visiting Professor Family Law Clinic

The University of Baltimore School of Law invites applications for a one-year visitorship during the 2002-03 academic year to teach in the Family Law Clinic (FLC). The FLC is one of our nationally recognized clinics, and FLC student attorneys represent clients in trial and appellate courts in the full range of family law cases, including child custody, support, divorce, and protection from domestic violence. Students also engage in state and national law reform projects aimed at increasing access to and improving justice in family law. Applicants should possess experience and interest in family law and in clinical legal education, as well as a willingness to teach a non-clinical course. Faculty teaching in the University of Baltimore's clinics are integrated fully into the law school faculty.

Candidates should possess an academic record that demonstrates a strong potential for teaching and scholarly achievement, as well as practice experience in family law litigation and related matters. In furtherance of the University of Baltimore's institutional commitment to a diverse faculty, we welcome applications from minorities. Applications consisting of a curriculum vitae and cover letter should be sent to Dean Gilbert A. Holmes, University of Baltimore School of Law, 1420 North Charles Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21201.

For further information about the position, please contact either Barbara Babb (410-837-5661; bbabb@ubmail.ubalt.edu) or Jane Murphy (410-837-5657; jmurphy@ubmail.ubalt.edu).

BALTIMORE

Clinical Teaching Fellowships

The University of Baltimore School of Law invites applications for three clinical teaching fellowships in our Civil Clinic, Community Development Clinic, and Family Law Clinic to start in the Summer of 2002. These positions are contractual appointments for up to two years (non-renewable). The public interest fellowship program offers practicing attorneys exposure to law school clinical teaching and service to the low income community.

The fellows' duties include direct supervision of case work of clinic students and clinic classroom teaching in coordination with clinic faculty. Fellows also pursue professional development in consultation with their clinic director and are encouraged to pursue a scholarly agenda. Past fellows have gone on to positions as faculty members in law schools around the country.

Qualifications: excellent oral and written communication skills; at least two years of experience as a practicing lawyer; a strong academic record and/or other indicia of high performance ability; commitment to work for low income communities; and a lively interest in teaching. Each Clinic also requires qualifications specific to its area of expertise as listed on our website, address below.

Salary: $42,000 year 1, $45,000 year 2. Over 6 years experience at start date: $45,000 year 1, $48,000 year 2. Plus full benefits, including retirement annuities, research support and travel allowance.

For detailed job descriptions of each position, please view our website at law.ubalt.edu/centers/fellows.html. The deadline for applications to the Community Development Clinic is November 30, 2001. The deadline for the Civil Clinic and Family Law Clinic is January 3, 2002. To apply for any of the positions, submit a letter of interest and resume to:

Jane Murphy
Clinic Director
University of Baltimore School of Law
40 W. Chase Street
Baltimore, Maryland 21201

Phone: (410) 837-5713; Fax: (410) 333-3053

The University of Baltimore is an equal opportunity employer. Minority candidates are encouraged to apply.

CUMBERLAND SCHOOL OF LAW

Professor of Trial Advocacy/Associate Director Of Advocacy and Clinical Programs

The Cumberland School of Law, Samford University, seeks an experienced litigator to serve as a Professor of Trial Advocacy and Associate Director of Advocacy and Clinical Programs, beginning with the fall semester, 2002.

Cumberland's efforts in this area are long-standing and well-regarded. We seek candidates who are enthusiastic about, and are willing to make a long-term commitment to, the study and teaching of advocacy. The successful candidate will teach basic and advanced courses in the areas of trial advocacy, appellate advocacy, negotiation, and/or client interviewing and counseling. In addition, the successful candidate will contribute to the work of Cumberland's externship program, our well-known moot court and trial competition teams, and our extensive intramural programs in trial and appellate advocacy. We seek someone for this position who can make substantial contributions to the further development of Cumberland's efforts in this area.

Salary is competitive. We offer the position as either tenured, tenure-track, or as leading to the equivalent of tenure as defined in Standard 405(c) of the ABA's standards for accreditation. Candidates should apply by November 20, 2001, to receive the fullest consideration.

Cumberland has approximately 550 students and 30 full-time faculty. It was founded in 1847 in Lebanon, Tennessee, and moved to Birmingham in 1961. Samford University has approximately 4,500 students. The campus is located in suburban Birmingham, an area that enjoys a moderate climate and cost of living.

Samford University is an Equal Opportunity Institution and welcomes applications for employment and educational programs from all individuals regardless of race, color, sex, disability, age, or national or ethnic origin.

For more information, contact: Professor Michael DeBow, Cumberland School of Law, Samford University, Birmingham, Alabama 35229; 205 726-2434; fax 205 726-2587; medebow@samford.edu.

DENVER

Fellowship in Clinical Legal Education (Externships)

The University of Denver College of Law invites applicants for a two-year, full-time fellowship in clinical legal education to begin August 1, 2002. The fellowship offers individuals with an interest in clinical legal education the opportunity to develop, implement and evaluate an extensive and well-established internship/externship (outplacement) program serving over 200 students per year.

The fellow would share with experienced clinicians the responsibility for planning and executing classroom instruction as well as counseling second and third year students enrolled in outplacements. The fellow would work with the clinical administrators and other clinical faculty, field placement supervisors, and local attorneys to ensure a high quality educational experience for students that encourages the development of professionalism consistent with the values of a reflective practitioner. The fellowship provides an opportunity to prepare for a career in teaching, litigation, legal administration, or all three. In addition, the fellow will also be provided the opportunity to work on scholarship and attend faculty forums.

Candidates should have at least three years of experience as a practicing lawyer; strong written and oral communication skills; interest and, preferably, experience, in teaching; a demonstrated commitment to public interest or pro bono legal work; an interest in pursuing a career in clinical legal education and the ability to work both collaboratively and independently. The fellow should be licensed to practice law, though a Colorado license is not necessarily required. The fellowship offers a stipend of approximately $ 31,000 (taxable) and excellent fringe benefits, including tuition waivers.

To apply, submit a statement of interest and a resume by February 1, 2002 to:

Clinical Teaching Fellow Internship Position
C/o Julie Kunce Field
Clinical Programs
University of Denver College of Law
7039 East 18th Ave., Suite P212
Denver, CO 80220

The University of Denver is an equal opportunity employer and encourages applications from under-represented groups including minorities, women, gays and lesbians, and people with disabilities.

DENVER

Fellowship in Clinical Legal Education (Litigation)

The University of Denver College of Law invites applicants for a two-year, full-time fellowship in clinical legal education to begin August 1, 2002. The fellowship offers individuals with an interest in clinical teaching the opportunity to refine his or her teaching and supervisory skills while working with experienced clinical faculty in the Student Law Office's in-house clinic.

The University of Denver College of Law created one of the first "legal aid dispensaries" in the United States in 1904, to train students and provide legal services to the poor. The Student Law Office trains over 100 students per year in its Civil Representation, Criminal Representation, Mediation/Arbitration, Family Law, Domestic Violence, and Low-Income Taxpayer Clinics.

The Clinical Teaching Fellow will work with the existing clinics, which provide representation to low-income clients in cases involving family law, domestic violence, landlord/tenant, public benefits, housing discrimination, criminal misdemeanor defense cases or consumer matters. In addition to casework, the program includes an intensive orientation class and a twice-weekly class with simulation exercises, lectures and discussion.

The Clinical Teaching Fellow will be responsible for the supervision of clinic casework, curriculum development, teaching classes and simulation exercises. In addition, the fellow will also be provided the opportunity to work on scholarship and attend faculty forums.

Candidates should have at least three years of experience as a practicing lawyer; strong written and oral communication skills; interest and, preferably, experience, in teaching; a demonstrated commitment to public interest or pro bono legal work; an interest in pursuing a career in clinical legal education and the ability to work both collaboratively and independently. The fellowship may be contingent on the fellow being licensed to practice law in Colorado, or becoming licensed within the first year of the fellowship. The fellowship offers a stipend of approximately $31,000 (taxable) and excellent fringe benefits, including tuition waivers.

To apply, submit a statement of interest and a resume by February 1, 2002 to:

Clinical Teaching Fellow Litigation Position
C/o Julie Kunce Field
Clinical Programs
University of Denver College of Law
7039 East 18th Ave., Suite P212
Denver, CO 80220

The University of Denver is an equal opportunity employer and encourages applications from under-represented groups including minorities, women, gays and lesbians, and people with disabilities.

EAST BAY COMMUNITY LAW CENTER

Director, Housing Unit

East Bay Community Law Center, the community-based component of Boalt Hall (UC Berkeley's) clinical program seeks a Director of the Housing Unit.

General Description :

Under the supervision of the Executive Director, the Director of the Housing Unit supervises staff attorneys in the unit, trains and supervises law students in representation and other service provision to low-income persons with housing-related legal problems and ensures progress toward unit workplan and grant objectives.

Primary Duties:

1. Supervise and provide back-up to unit Staff Attorneys/ Clinical Supervisors on all aspects of service provision to low-income persons with housing-related legal problems, including eviction defense (unlawful detainers), code enforcement, rent control, public housing (conventional and §8) and fair housing. Evaluation of Staff Attorneys includes development of annual workplans and regular assessment of progress toward meeting plan goals.
2. Ensure the training, supervision and support of student interns on substantive housing law and skills related to housing law, including regular individual case reviews, group case rounds, and assistance in teaching the clinical companion course.
3. Develop and maintain close relationships with other providers of housing services to low-income people in Alameda County, and serve as the primary contact with the community, courts and media, including responding to press and service provider inquiries, making presentations to public, community and other professional groups, and overseeing other employees to whom this has been delegated.
4. Stay apprised of emerging or resurgent community legal needs and develop responses thereto, including, education and outreach (such as tenant workshops), policy reform and legislative advocacy.

5. Participate in on-going professional development to improve student supervision and client services.
6. Provide general administration of the unit, including oversight of grant management, and other tasks as assigned by the Executive Director and set forth in an Individual Workplan.

Minimum Experience:

Member in good standing of the California Bar. Substantial experience in providing legal services to poor people in general and housing law in particular. Excellent supervision and teaching skills and commitment to clinical legal education. Ability to work effectively with a diverse range of groups, including low-income clients, clients of color, students, service providers and law school faculty. Bilingual skills highly desirable. Salary depends on experience.

To apply: send resume, writing sample, references to: Housing Hiring Committee, EBCLC, 3130 Shattuck Ave., Berkeley, CA 94705.

DEADLINE: OPEN UNTIL FILLED.

GEORGETOWN

Tenure-Track Clinical Faculty

Georgetown University Law Center is seeking applicants for a permanent tenure track faculty position, starting July 2002, to direct the operations of a clinical program focusing on civil rights issues (broadly defined) and/or other issues that will advance the goals of Georgetown University Law Center. The person selected will supervise graduate fellows and law students, teach all or part of a supporting clinical seminar, and be responsible for advocacy before federal and local courts and administrative agencies.

A distinguished professional record and superior scholarly and teaching promise are necessary. Women and men who will contribute to Georgetown's traditions of excellence and diversity, including members of minority groups, are encouraged to apply. Applications must be received by January 2002 to be fully considered; we anticipate making a decision no later than March 2002. To apply, send a resume and letter outlining advocacy, teaching, and scholarship interests to: Professor Donald Langevoort, Chair, Faculty Appointments Committee, Georgetown University Law Center, 600 New Jersey Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20001.

GEORGETOWN

Clinical Education Fellowships

The Georgetown University Law Center is pleased to announce the availability of approximately 14 clinical graduate fellowships commencing in the summer of 2002. Each year, at least 26 fellows assist full-time faculty in teaching 300 J.D. students enrolled in the Law Center's in-house clinical program. This fellowship program is unique in American legal education. Each fellowship offers both new and experienced lawyers alike the opportunity to combine study with practice in the fields of clinical legal education and public interest advocacy.

Typically, fellows enroll in a two-year program during which they are in residence at a specific Georgetown clinic. Upon completing the requirements for graduation, a fellow is awarded the degree of Master of Laws (Advocacy). The fellowships usually begin in the late summer with an intensive orientation designed to introduce fellows to clinical teaching methods and, in some cases, the substantive law practiced by their particular clinic. In at least one of their years in residence, fellows directly supervise J.D. students enrolled in the clinics and assist in teaching clinic seminars. Fellows also work on their own cases or other legal matters on behalf of their clinic's clients.

The Fellowship program offers an annual stipend of over $35,000 (taxable), plus all tuition and fees in the LL.M. program. Applications must be sent directly to the director of the clinic in which the fellowship is sought and not to the Graduate Programs Admissions Office. Application to more than one fellowship is permitted. Application deadlines vary by clinic. For descriptions of each fellowship and a list of application deadlines, please visit our website at <http://law.georgetown.edu/clinics/fellowships>, or request a brochure by e-mailing us at clinics@law.georgetown.edu or calling (202) 662-9100. Georgetown University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer.

GEORGE WASHINGTON

Half-Time Clinical Faculty Criminal Appellate Clinic

The George Washington University Law School, Jacob Burns Community Legal Clinics, invites applications for the following non-tenure track clinical faculty position beginning in the 2002-2003 academic year:

A half-time, clinical faculty shared position as a supervisor and clinical teacher in the law school's Criminal Appellate Clinic. Officially titled the Federal Criminal and Appellate Clinic (FAC), this is an in-house clinic in which court-certified third-year law students represent indigent clients usually on direct appeal of felony criminal convictions. The supervisor/teacher will share teaching, supervision, and administrative responsibilities and work closely with the FAC Director. Weekly clinic seminar curriculum covers approaches to studying a record, defining and investigating issues, client relations and counseling, appellate procedure, fact-writing, written and oral argument, ethical problems, as well as systemic and comparative examination of criminal justice issues and trial strategies. Close supervision occurs on an individual basis and addresses complex questions of issue development, strategy, client-counseling, and advanced written and oral advocacy in the context of specific cases. Demands of court schedules prevent "screening" cases for difficulty, outside of general guidelines against very lengthy transcripts or capital cases. Workload fluctuates greatly over the course of the year, with consistently intense demands September through March.

Qualifications: Applicants must have a strong academic record with significant criminal and supervision experience and strong interpersonal skills. They must have excellent skills in written and oral advocacy, as well as the ability to work well with others under stressful conditions, including deadline pressure, with limited staff resources. Preferred experience includes: appellate litigation, work with indigent clients, and supervision or teaching of complex writing projects. Applicants must be licensed in Maryland and/or DC, or eligible and willing to take Maryland Attorney's Bar Exam within two years and must have schedule flexibility during the periods of maximum clinic output.

Review of applications will begin October 15, 2001, and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants should send a cover letter, resume, and references to: Professor Ira C. Lupu, Chair, Faculty Appointments Committee, The George Washington University Law School, 2000 H Street, N.W., Washington, DC 20052. The George Washington University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.

GEORGE WASHINGTON

Project Director, Health Insurance Counseling Project

The George Washington University Law School, Jacob Burns Community Legal Clinics, invites applications for the following non-tenure track clinical faculty position beginning in the 2002-2003 academic year:

A one-year clinical faculty position as Project Director of the Health Insurance Counseling Project that may be extended beyond one year if funding permits. The Jacob Burns Community Legal Clinics Health Insurance Counseling Project, funded by the DC Office on Aging and the Health Care Financing Administration, provides information and assistance to elderly and disabled District of Columbia residents in the areas of Medicare, Medicaid, Long Term Care and other related health insurance issues. Activities include outreach into the community through visits to hospitals, nursing homes, senior centers, nutrition sites, churches, public housing sites and health fairs. This individual is responsible for the day-to-day administration of the grant and teaching the Health Law Rights Clinic. The grant duties include writing annual grant applications to the DC Office on Aging and the Health Care financing Administration, reporting quarterly to both agencies, attending monthly meetings of the DC Office on Aging, and attending meetings sponsored by the Health Care Financing Administration for grantees. In addition, program administration includes recruiting, training and supervising attorneys, staff and senior volunteers from the community. The project director counsels clients over the phone, in person and through home visits on health insurance issues; performs educational seminars in the community; and performs community outreach at nursing homes, hospitals, nutrition sites and other local forums. The clinical component includes teaching a one-semester, two-credit clinical course to second and third year law students including a weekly seminar and supervising students in the clinic as they counsel and advise clients. The clinician is responsible for developing and maintaining a case load for students as well as designing and supervising community projects for students to research and develop. The position also supervises students as they participate in cases with administrative hearings before local and federal government agencies and matters in District of Columbia and Federal courts. Qualifications: Applicants must possess a JD and be licensed in the District of Columbia or willing to become licensed; have clinical or other law teaching experience; demonstrated skills in writing and implementing grants; experience in training and supervising attorneys, staff and volunteers; knowledge of health insurance and public benefits; and experience and a commitment to working with seniors, persons with disabilities, minorities and local community groups.

Review of applications will begin October 15, 2001, and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants should send a cover letter, resume, and references to: Professor Ira C. Lupu, Chair, Faculty Appointments Committee, The George Washington University Law School, 2000 H Street, N.W., Washington, DC 20052. The George Washington University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.

MICHIGAN

Fellowship-Legal Assistance for Urban Communities Clinic

The University of Michigan Law School is seeking an attorney for a two-year full-time fellowship position to teach and supervise students in its Legal Assistance for Urban Communities Clinic. The Clinic specializes in transactional law in the areas of affordable housing and community development. Duties will include direct supervision of law students engaged in transactional practice representing nonprofit development organizations and participation in community and civic events. Successful applicants must have a minimum of two years experience as a practicing lawyer in a related field; exemplary oral and written communication skills; strong academic record and/or other indicators of high performance. Desired skills include: experience in development or real estate law, involvement with nonprofit organizations, low-income communities or community service projects, teaching experience, or public relations experience. Travel between Detroit and Ann Arbor is required.

Applicants should send a letter of interest and resume to: Professor Rochelle E. Lento, Executive Director, Legal Assistance for Urban Communities Clinic, University of Michigan Law School, 8109 E. Jefferson Avenue, Suite 300, Detroit, MI 48214. The application deadline is February 1, 2002. The University of Michigan is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer.

NEVADA, LAS VEGAS

Clinical Teaching

The William S. Boyd School of Law of the University of Nevada, Las Vegas (UNLV) invites applications for new faculty positions. Appointments may be made at the Assistant, Associate or Full Professor level and may be tenured or tenure-track, depending on the applicant's qualifications.

We have specific needs for one or more candidates with a strong interest in clinical teaching to teach in both clinical and classroom settings. The Boyd Law School has an integrated teaching and tenure track in which faculty who teach in the clinic also teach in the classroom, usually on a yearly rotation and on a nine-month contract. We are especially interested in applicants to teach in our juvenile justice clinic and in all applicants whose teaching and scholarly interests are in areas that do, or can, complement our clinics' focus on children and families. We are particularly interested in immigration and capital defense.

The Boyd Law School is a new, state-supported law school, the first in Nevada's history. Located at UNLV in a desert mountain setting and one of the fastest growing cities in the country, the law school commenced classes in August, 1998, and has a faculty of 27 new and experienced legal educators drawn from law schools around the country. The American Bar Association provisionally accredited the law school in July, 2000. The law school aspires to serve the community and state in significant ways, to be a major force in the continuing improvement of UNLV, to provide leadership to the legal profession and in the legal academy, and to provide access to people of all economic means and circumstances.

UNLV is a premier urban university located in the vibrant city of Las Vegas and is surrounded by the Mojave Desert. UNLV is the state's largest comprehensive, doctoral degree granting institution with 22,000 students and more than 700 full-time faculty. UNLV provides traditional and professional academic programs for a diverse student body and encourages innovative and interdisciplinary approaches to teaching, learning and scholarship. For more information, see the UNLV World Wide Web site at: <http://www.unlv.edu>.

While we welcome all the opportunity to consider all candidates, we prefer those with excellent records of relevant education and experience. Candidates should be, or aspire to be, excellent teachers, mentors and role models for our students; and they should be, or aspire to be, original and productive scholars.

We hope that the people who comprise the Boyd Law School will be an excellent and diverse community, in which faculty, students and staff will work together, collegially and respectfully, to maximize the potential of the students and help the law school fulfill its aspirations. We welcome applications from those who wish to participate in this sort of community and strongly encourage women and minorities to apply. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. The positions, like all faculty positions, are contingent upon funding.

The positions are available July or August, 2002. Application review begins immediately and will continue until the positions are filled.

Submit a letter of application, resume and the names of three references to:

Appointments Committee
William S. Boyd School of Law
University of Nevada, Las Vegas
4505 Maryland Parkway
Box 451003
Las Vegas, Nevada 89154-1003

UNLV is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. Persons are selected on the basis of ability without regard to race, color, sex, age, national origin, sexual orientation, religion, disability or veteran status.

RUTGERS-NEWARK

Director, Environmental Law Clinic

Rutgers Law School - Newark invites applications for the position of Director of its Environmental Law Clinic. The Environmental Law Clinic is the major public interest environmental law office in New Jersey. It handles a wide variety of cases and projects involving environmental law and environmental issues, primarily in New Jersey and the metropolitan New York area. In addition to the director, its teaching and support staff consists of three experienced clinical teachers and an office manager. Between 12 and 20 Rutgers Law School students enroll in the clinic each semester, and students from other law schools often work in the clinic during the summer.

The director is responsible for overseeing the clinic's legal work and its teaching, through supervision of students and co-teaching the clinic seminar. The director has administrative responsibility for supervising clinic staff, and for raising and managing grant funds to support the clinic's work. The director will also be expected to teach some non-clinical courses on a regular basis.

The Environmental Law Clinic is part of Rutgers' substantial in-house clinical program, with nine clinics and a faculty of seventeen teaching up to 100 students each semester. Rutgers' clinical program has been in operation since 1970, and the Environmental Law Clinic has been at Rutgers since 1984.

The director will be hired on either a clinical professor (a long-term renewable contract) or tenure/tenure-track basis, depending on qualifications. We expect the director to be, or to become, a member of the New Jersey bar.

If you are interested in being considered for the position, please send a letter expressing your interest, together with a resume and the names, addresses, and telephone numbers of at least three references to:

Professor Cynthia A. Blum
Co-Chair, Clinical Appointments and Review Committee
Rutgers Law School
123 Washington Street
Newark, NJ 07102-3094
(973) 353-5045
(973) 353-1445 (fax)
cblum@andromeda.rutgers.edu

You may also contact Professor Blum if you have questions. The position will remain open until it is filled. Rutgers is an equal opportunity employer, with a diverse faculty, staff, and student body.

SUFFOLK

Clinical Professor

Suffolk University Law School seeks applications for up to three positions as Clinical Professors of Law. These new positions will be long-term contract positions, pursuant to Suffolk's recently adopted policy for hiring and promoting Clinical Professors. Under this new structure, individuals hired will proceed, after evaluation, through two consecutive, three-year terms followed by renewable five year contracts.

The three anticipated positions will be filled by candidates who show interest, promise, and/or expertise in areas of Civil Legal Services and Litigation. The specific areas under consideration may include, but are not limited to: housing law, employment law, benefits, family law, and domestic abuse.

Clinical Professors of Law will be full-time members of the Law School faculty with ten months of teaching responsibility each year. Clinical Professors will enjoy the same privileges and responsibilities as all full-time members of the faculty except as to personnel and policy matters relating to tenure track faculty.

Specific responsibilities of each Clinical Professor include cooperative assistance with the Director of Clinical Programs and other clinicians in the development of a new and coordinated clinical program; clinical student teaching and supervision; case management, the development and teaching of one course in the classroom curriculum each year, the development of the educational and service aspects of the clinical programs, and service to the Law School.

The Law School is seeking to continue to diversify its faculty and particularly encourages applications from women and minorities. Suffolk University is an equal opportunity employer.

To apply, contact Professor Charles P. Kindregan, Chair, Clinical Programs Committee, Suffolk University School of Law, 120 Tremont Street, Boston, MA 02108-4977. Review of candidates will begin by October 15, 2001.

USC

Director, Family Violence Clinic

The University of Southern California Law School seeks applicants for a clinical professorship. The new professor will be the Director of the existing Family Violence clinic. Teaching responsibilities will include supervising students individually in their representation of clients and teaching a related seminar. Depending on experience and interests, the new professor may collaborate with current clinical faculty in other Law School clinics. An active license to practice in California is required.

The Family Violence Clinic is an interdisciplinary clinic. The new professor will collaborate with the Violence Intervention Program at Los Angeles County-USC Medical Center and the USC School of Social Work.

Depending on qualifications and experience, an appointment may be made in the Clinical Professor of Law track as an Assistant, Associate or full Clinical Professor of Law with indefinitely renewable terms. Starting date may be as early as June 1, 2002 but no later than August 1, 2002. To apply, mail or FAX by December 7, 2001 a letter describing clinical teaching interests, a resume and the names of three references to Professor Lee Campbell, USC Law School, Los Angeles, California 90089-0071, FAX (213) 740-5502

The University of Southern California is an Equal Opportunity Employer and welcomes applicants with diverse backgrounds and experience.

SOUTHERN METHODIST UNIVERSITY

Director, Child Advocacy Clinic

The Dedman School of Law at Southern Methodist University is seeking a full-time Director for the W.W. Caruth, Jr., Child Advocacy Clinic. The Clinic is funded by an eight-year grant from the W.W. Caruth, Jr. Foundation Fund of Communities Foundation of Texas. The Clinic will represent abused and neglected children who have been removed from their homes by Dallas County Child Protective Services. The goal of the Clinic is to develop an interdisciplinary practice model that emphasizes early intervention and evaluation in abuse and neglect cases, and train law students and other members of the community in the use of this model. The Child Advocacy Clinic will be part of the Law School's Civil Clinic Program. Applicants should have a J.D. degree and extensive experience in the protective services arena or representing children in court.

The Directorship is a full-time, 12 month contractual position. The Director, working under the guidance of the Associate Dean for Clinical Education and the Dean of the Law School, will be responsible for the overall development and implementation of the grant, including the clinical component of the program. The Director will also be responsible for helping to develop and implement an extensive research component designed to evaluate the effectiveness of the interdisciplinary practice model. Finally, the Director will work with community and expert advisory groups in developing the project.

This is a non-tenure track position. Salary will be commensurate with experience for the position. The Hiring Committee will begin its review of the applications on or about November 26, 2001. To ensure full consideration for the position, the applications should be postmarked on or before Nov. 26, 2001, but the committee will continue to accept applications until the position is filled. The committee will notify applicants of its employment decision after the position is filled. The Director will assume duties for the beginning of the spring semester. Please send cover letter and resume to: Professor Maureen Armour, Associate Dean for Clinical Education, Dedman School of Law, Southern Methodist University, P.O. Box 750116, Dallas, TX 75275-0116. FAX: 214-768-1611. E-mail: marmour@mail.smu.edu. SMU will not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, age, disability, or veteran status. SMU is committed to nondiscrimination on the basis of sexual orientation.

U OF WASHINGTON

Director, Child Advocacy Clinic

The University of Washington School of Law invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment as the Director of our Child Advocacy Clinic. The school seeks applicants who possess superior academic credentials, a record or promise of scholarship in the field, extensive practice experience, vision, and administrative ability. Candidates must have been admitted to practice law in some state for a minimum of three years. Substantial practice experience in child welfare law and a clinical law teaching background preferred. Social work training is also preferred but not required.

The position involves: (1) directing a multidisciplinary law school clinic in which students represent children, parents or the guardian ad litem in child abuse and neglect cases, including working with an active and supportive advisory board and some grant writing; (2) teaching a non-clinical multidisciplinary course on child welfare with other University of Washington faculty to law and social work students; (3) teaching clinic students the substantive law, procedures, lawyering skills and ethical considerations necessary to represent the clinic's clients; (4) supervising the students □ provision of legal services to clinic clients; (5) coordinating the clinic's activities with governmental agencies, local bar associations, other departments of the University of Washington and other entities; and (6) teaching non-clinical, substantive law course(s).

The University of Washington is building a culturally diverse faculty and strongly encourages applications from women and minority candidates. The University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer.

Please send a resume and cover letter to:

Prof. Stewart M. Jay, Chair
Initial Appointments Committee
University of Washington School of Law
1100 N.E. Campus Parkway
Seattle, WA 98105-6617

Review of applications is ongoing. For questions please contact:

Prof. Debbie Maranville
(206) 543-3434
maran@u.washington.edu

YALE

Clinical Tenure-Track

The Yale Law School invites applications for a clinical tenure-track position. Applicants who have specialized in the fields of criminal justice, transactional, or poverty work are particularly encouraged. Women and members of minority groups also are particularly encouraged to apply. Significant practice experience (including trials, appeals, or transactions) required; clinical teaching experience preferred, but not required. Salary commensurate with experience.

Please send a resume and cover letter to:

J.L. Pottenger, Jr.
Director of Clinical Studies
The Jerome N. Frank Legal Services Organization
P.O. Box 209090
New Haven, CT 06520-9090

Tel: (203) 432-4800
Fax: (203) 432-1426

To ensure full consideration, materials should be received before
November 21, 2001.

YALE LAW SCHOOL IS AN AFFIRMATIVE ACTION, EQUAL OPPORTUNITY, TITLE IX EMPLOYER

The next issue of the CLEA Newsletter will be published in January, 2002. Items of interest to members may be submitted to the Editor by mail, FAX or email as follows:

Larry R. Spain
Texas Tech University School of Law
1802 Hartford Avenue
Lubbock, Texas 79409-0004
(806) 742-3990 ext. 227
(806) 742-0901 FAX
lspain@law.ttu.edu

CLEA Newsletters are also available through a link on the CLEA Website:

<http://clinic.law.cuny.edu/clea/clea.html>